PLEDGES SUPPORT TO GUARD COMPANY

Rush Post 150, American Legion,
Endorses Movement to Recruit
Militia Unit

COMMITTEE IS CONTINUED

One Appointed to See Commissioners
Regarding Court House Flag
Gets no Satisfaction

Rush Post 150, American Legion, which met last night in the assembly room of the court house, went on record as favoring and endorsing the formation of a National Guard company here and pledged support to the movement. After the matter was discussed, resolutions were adopted, and passed in which the local legionnaires expressed this sentiment.

The resolution as passed was worded as follows:

"Whereas: We believe that a company of the National Guard will be of great benefit not only to the members composing it but to the entire community as well; therefore,

"Be it resolved that Rush Post 150, American Legion, hereby endorses and recommends to favorable consideration the movement to organize here in Rushville."

The resolution was signed by Eli Kinney, post commander, and Paul E. Thorpe, adjutant.

A continuance was granted to the committee which was appointed to appear before the county commissioners and protest about condition of the flag on the court house staff. The legion members contend that the national emblem is being shown disrespect, and they demand that the flag either be taken down entirely, or that the usual flag ceremony for public buildings be used, which includes the taking down at night, and also during storms.

The committee reported that the commissioners had not given them much satisfaction at a conference, and an extension of time was granted so that the committee could make some kind of a favorable report.

A publicity committee was appointed last night with George Hogsett, chairman, and consisted of two members, Will B. Brann and Herschell Schmall.

The legion also voted thanks to the Red Men lodge for the liberal donation of their lodge rooms for their headquarters, which they recently vacated, the purpose being to stimulate interest in club rooms of their own.

MILROY BANK SUES FORMER UNDERTAKER

Seeks $1500 From E. Oscar Anderson in Complaint on Notes, Attachment and Garnishment

LOAN OF $1200 IS UNPAID

The Milroy Bank this morning filed suit in the circuit court against E. Oscar Anderson, a former furniture and funeral director of that town, the suit being a complaint on notes, attachment and garnishment, the demand being for $1500 judgment.

According to the complaint, the defendant by his promissory note on May 26, 1921 negotiated a loan of $1200 with the bank and the note is past due, and uncollectable. The complaint sets out that the defendant is now moving his personal property from Milroy, and unless he is restrained from doing so, there will not be enough property left to substantiate the note.

The plaintiff asks that the court attach the personal property and hold the same until the case is disposed of. The plaintiff also states that the defendant is not now a resident of the state, and a notice of publication has been ordered.

S. L. Innis is the attorney in the case for the plaintiff.

Wheel Stealing Epidemic in City

Four Now in "Port of Missing Bicycles," Indicating That Auto Thieves, Since Penalty Has Become So Severe and Means of Detection so Easy, Have Turned Talents in Another Direction.

An epidemic of bicycle stealing has hit Rushville and the police are endeavoring to unravel it. Close to a dozen have been stolen in the last few weeks and the police are inclined to believe that someone is engaged in the business of disposing of stolen bicycles.

In the "port of missing bicycles" now are wheels belonging to Bob Conover, employed at Allen's grocery; Roy Lemasters, employed at Winger's cigar shop, James Gilsey, corner of First and Harrison streets, Varley's grocery, East Second street and Jess Poe, jeweler.

Mr. Gilsey reported to the police Friday that his wheel had been stolen from in front of his home Thursday night and Friday afternoon he received word that parts of a bicycle had been found in the weeds by the side of the road between the mill race and the Flatrock river bridge in South Main street.

Mr. Gilsey went immediately to investigate and found none of the parts belonged to his wheel with the exception of one tire. With the tire was part of a frame and a wheel, which indicated that the thieves had taken the best parts from two or more bicycles and rigged up another wheel. It was reported some boys were camping last night in the place where the parts were found.

This indicates that parts are being changed by the thieves in an effort to disguise the stolen property.

Owners of bicycles have felt safe from robbers since the automobile has come into general use because it has been the rule that no thief would take the trouble to steal a wheel, but went after big game. However, it is apparent that since the penalty for auto stealing has become so severe and the means of detection are so easy for the authorities, that the thieves are turning their talents in a new direction.

SHELBYVILLE MAN COMMITTS SUICIDE

Edward Monfort, 40, Express Co., Clerk, Alleged Short in Accounts, Takes His Life

DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID

(By United Press)
Shelbyville, Ind., Aug. 6.—Edward Monfort, 40, clerk in the office of the American Railway Express company here, committed suicide early today by drinking an ounce of carbolic acid in the wash room of the Hotel Shelby. Mr. Monfort had gone to the dining room during a conference with two special agents of the express company in which he was being questioned concerning a shortage of almost $500 in his accounts. The agents began a search when he failed to return to the conference. The clerk died several minutes after he was found.

A child of Mr. Monfort died last month and it is thought he was despondent over this. The widow collapsed when she heard of the suicide. Monfort had just returned from Dayton, Ohio, where he made attempts to obtain money with which to overcome the shortage.

PASSED BAD CHECKS HERE

Greenfield Youth, Held at Shelbyville Admits Operations

Shelbyville, Ind., Aug. 6.—Mayor Hoop today had under advisement the plea of guilty entered by Autis Walsh, 17 years old to a charge of passing worthless checks. The youth said he passed checks in Rushville, Noblesville, Newcastle, Franklin, Anderson and Knightstown because a friend told him it would be easy.

Walsh is a member of a prominent Greenfield family. He was one of the highest grade scholars in the Greenfield high school and visited Shelbyville and other cities for social functions. He was arrested in Greenfield on complaint of four local business men with whom he had left worthless checks.

GET ACQUAINTED WITH NEW LAWS

School Authorities Studying Many New Statutes as Opening of Fall Term Approaches

SOME NOT EFFECTIVE HERE

Eight Months School Term General Throughout County—New Rating System Doesn't Apply

As school authorities prepare for the opening of school next month, they are busy acquainting themselves with the new laws passed by the last session of the legislature which affect the schools.

The requirement of an eight months term does not affect Rush county schools, but there are many under new regulations regarding schools with which the authorities have to familiarize themselves.

The state school board has also set up a system of scoring and rating of public schools just as the high schools have been graded in the past but it is not compulsory only with schools receiving state aid, which means that no school in Rush county will be compelled to adopt the system. It is said, however, that the system will be used in all grade schools of the state in time.

The purpose of the new rating system, which is based upon about fifteen different points in school administration and equipment, is to enable a school in one part of the state to compare itself with a school in a different part of the state.

The same tests will be applied to all public schools of Indiana, one room, consolidated and city. A school which scores 90 points under the scoring system is called first class; and those scoring fewer than 80 points are called third class.

In consolidated schools and city schools, each room is scored separately, and the average of the several rooms is taken as the score for the school, which method enables a one-room school to compare itself to the graded school.

The principal considerations in the scoring system are (1) the teacher, (2) the school building, and (3) the school equipment, although the matter of school grounds, janitor service, and a number of less important matters affect a school's rating.

The duties of the attendance officer under the new law cover a much broader field than formerly. No person shall be nominated or appointed to the position who has not completed the work of the elementary public schools and who is not qualified in accordance with certain standards and regulations determined by the state board of education. Attendance officers are required to maintain an office and shall be on duty during school hours and at such other times as requested by the county superintendent. They are required to keep certain records and make reports as called for by the state board of education and the county superintendent.

In addition the attendance officer under the new law is required to visit factories where minors are employed, serve written notices on pa-

ACCOUNTS FOR THE COLLIER CYCLOPS

Former German Naval Officer Says Vessel on Which Fred Beale Lost His Life Was Sunk

GREATEST MYSTERY OF WAR

Story of Sinking by Submarine on South American Coast is Not Regarded as Plausible

What is believed to be information on the mysterious disappearance of the Cyclops a U. S. Navy Collier, on which was Fred Beale, a Rushville boy, who lost his life on the ship during the war, was brought out today in a dispatch, accounted for by a former German naval officer who admitted that he was in command of a U-boat that sent the American boat to the bottom.

This story, however, is not believed by many as plausible, on account of the fact that there usually were traces on the water of ships that were torpedoed, but in the disappearance of the Cyclops, there never was a trace left. The dispatch is as follows, coming from Philadelphia.

The Navy collier Cyclops which furnished the greatest mystery of the war by its unexplained disappearance, fell a prey to the torpedoes of German submarines operating off the South American coast, according to Franz Rottie, now second officer of the Hamburg-American liner Deutschland, who was former senior lieutenant on a U-boat during the war.

Rottie praised the convoy system developed by Admiral Sims, which he said, made it almost impossible for U-boats to sink American transports. The only feasible method of attack was to dive under the protection inside the convoy line, a risk which few U-boat officers were willing to take, he said.

The lieutenant described U. boat operations off the English coast in which his boat was badly damaged by two "mystery ships" disguised by trawlers. He bears scars marking where shrapnel caught him as he was closing the conning tower after the submarine crew was forced to abandon the deck gun. On another trip Lieutenant Rottie said his U-boat approached so close to Newcastle, England, that the crew took turns watching crowds of Sunday promenaders on shore through the periscope.

DECISION INVOLVES HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS

Determines What Shall be Paid Railroads on Maintenance Claims After Federal Control

ALLEGATIONS OF THE ROADS

Washington, Aug. 6.—A decision involving several hundred million dollars was handed down today by the interstate commerce commission. The decision determined what should be paid to the railroads for under maintenance claims during the six months following federal control.

While only a comparatively small sum is involved in this six months, the principles laid down by the commission probably will be followed in settlement of claims that accrued during the months the roads were operated by the government.

The railroads claim that the government in making settlement with them should allow for claims that labor had become inefficient under federal control, that wages were higher, that property bought for railroads by the government had depreciated and that materials used for maintenance cost more.

BLAZE TRAIL TOWARD PEACE

London, Aug. 6.—Lieutenants of Eamon De Valera and Sir James Craig were reported in conference today blazing the trail for the direct negotiations between the Sinn Fein and Ulster leaders. These intermediaries were supposed to be working to bring about the long postponed meeting between De Valera and Sir James.

TENNIS PLAYER BADLY HURT

John Ryan Suffers Broken Arm at Elbow on City Courts

John Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denny Ryan, met with a painful accident shortly before noon today when he fell and broke his right arm at the elbow, while engaged in a game of tennis on the courts at the city park. He was playing a game with Carrol Nipp, and in an attempt to reach up and make a stop he lost his balance and fell backwards, landing on his right elbow, and the bone was broken at the joint. The break is said to be of a serious nature and weeks will be required for it to mend.

Following the accident he was taken to the office of Dr. L. M. Green where his injury was dressed and the bone reset.

SMALL GOING BACK TO BE ARRESTED TUESDAY

Illinois Governor Says He Will Give Himself up to Sheriff at Springfield

STATEMENT IN CHICAGO

(By United Press)

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 6.—The indicted governor of Illinois is going back to Springfield to face Sheriff Mester who has warrants for his arrest.

The governor, charged with juggling millions of dollars in state funds while he was state treasurer, said today he would return to Springfield Tuesday. The governor has not been in the capital for several weeks. He started on a tour of the roads of the state when the court ruled that he was not above the jurisdiction of the law. During his absence he transacted the state's business from the capitol on wheels in various parts of the state.

The executive was here today the guest of honor and speaker at the Pageant of Progress held on Chicago's Municipal Pier.

"So that newspaper men shall not continue to misrepresent me in my official course I shall not resume my good road program until Friday of next week" said the governor when he arrived. "I expect to finish my state business here today and be back in Springfield next Tuesday morning."

The governor was indicted for alleged misuse of the interest on state funds.

WHEREABOUTS OF PRIEST ARE GIVEN

Mysterious Voice Says Rev. Father Heslin is in Cave 30 Miles From San Francisco

A NEW SEARCH IS STARTED

(By United Press)

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 6.—Archbishop Hanna today received a telephone message declaring that the Rev. Father Heslin, kidnapped priest, might be found in a cave on the McDonough ranch in the Portola Hills.

Such a cave is known to exist. It is located in the hills some thirty miles from San Francisco. The man who telephoned the archbishop refused to give his name and all efforts to trace the call thus far have failed.

The message resulted in a new squad of detectives being formed to search for the priest. The telephone message was the only development in the search.

Reports from a half dozen searching parties all reported that no trace had been found of the missing priest.

NURSE HELD WITHOUT BAIL FOR EXAMINATION

Miss Olivia Stone Arraigned on Charge of Killing E. G. Kinkead, Cincinnati Lawyer

NEW YORK TRAGEDY ENACTED

New York, Aug. 6.—Miss Olivia Stone was arraigned in Brooklyn court today charged with murdering Ellis G. Kinkead, Cincinnati lawyer. She was held without bail for examination Tuesday. The woman declared she was Kinkead's common law wife.

She killed Kinkead on a street corner near his apartment. A policeman seized her as she was still snapping the empty revolver at the prostrate form.

The attorney's wife was sitting in her apartment so close by that she heard the shots.

Miss Stone declared she met Kinkead when she was his nurse in Cincinnati in 1918. She went with him to Atlantic City where he suggested a common law marriage. She agreed, she said, and they lived together six months.

After they had returned to Cincinnati, she declared Kinkead ceased calling on her and she discovered he had married a Miss Gormley. She began hunting him, she said, and he and his wife left town.

Mrs. Kinkead told police Miss Stone had been annoying them for months.

Weekly Marketgram

(U. S. Bureau of Markets)

Washington, Aug. 6.—(For week ending Aug. 5.)

Grain—Markets trended lower during week with trade not large and principally local in character. Extremely large receipts of winter wheat acted to depress wheat prices. Brisk selling occurred during the last two days of the week resulting in wheat hitting new low point. Export business was brisk on most days. Corn prices declined under selling pressure and more favorable crop news despite good export demand. Cash markets for both wheat and corn were unsettled. In Chicago cash market no. 2 red winter wheat closed at $1.18; no. 2 hard at $1.19; no. 3 mixed corn at 56c; no. 3 yellow at 55c; no. 3 new white oats at 32c. For the week Chicago September wheat dropped 5 1/2c closing at $1.18 1/2; September corn dropped 3 1/2c closing at 56 1/2c. Minneapolis September wheat dropped 3c closing at $1.25 1/2. Kansas City September wheat dropped 4 1/2c closing at $1.08. Chicago December wheat closed at $1.22; December corn at 57c. Minneapolis December wheat closed at $1.25 1/2. Kansas City December wheat closed at $1.12 1/2.

Dairy Products—Butter markets firm early in the week but at the close became somewhat easy and unsettled. Full confidence in high prices and recent advances has been lacking and traders in the markets have tried to avoid any accumulation of stocks. Receipts are running lighter. Prices of 92 score. New York 44 1/2c; Chicago 42 3/4c; Philadelphia 43 1/2c; Boston 45c.

Cheese markets have lost the firmness of a week ago. Prices are 1 to 2c lower and in line with declines occurring August 1 on Wisconsin country boards. Wisconsin primary market prices: twins 19 1/2c; daisies 20 1/2c; double daisies 20 1/2c; young Americas 22c; longhorns 22 1/2c.

Fruits and Vegetables—Virginia eastern shore Irish cobbler potatoes up $1-1.25 per barrel in New York August 4 at $5.50-6. Other eastern markets higher, ranging $4.25-6.25. New Jersey cobbler up 30-35c per 100 lbs in New York, ranging $3.15-3.35. Kansas sacked early Ohio up 50-75c per 100 lbs from seasons low point in Kansas City closing around $1.75; Chicago market active at $1.50-1.85. California salmon tint cantaloupes from Turlock section slightly weaker in eastern markets, closing $2.25-3.50 per standard crate. Chicago slow and weak at $2.50-2.75. Arkansas stock $1 to 2 in middlewestern cities.

Georgia elberta peaches stronger in eastern markets owing to light supplies. Prices advanced $1 per 6 basket carriers in New York, reaching $4.75-5 and closed 25-75c higher in Baltimore around $4.50. Elberta peaches up 50-75c in Chicago, closing $4-4.25.

Georgia and South Carolina Tom Watson watermelons, medium sizes, nearly steady in New York at $200-250 per car for 25-28 pound stock. Wire inquiry has been light at Georgia shipping points and supplies heavy. Prices declined $50-65 per car, 20-28 pound melons reaching $75-100 the middle of the week and 22-24 pound average $10-65 fob cash track.

Hay—General level of hay prices practically unchanged. Extremely light receipts of high grade timothy causing firm prices for that commodity. Lower grades still sell slowly. Good demand for timothy at Chicago and Cincinnati and for alfalfa at Kansas City. Some shipping demand at Cincinnati but only local at other markets. Quoted August 5 number 1 timothy New York $33; Cincinnati $21; Chicago $20; Atlanta $27; Kansas City $12. Number 1 alfalfa Kansas City 22; Memphis $21. Number one prairie Chicago $17.50; Kansas City $11.50.

Feed—Prices unchanged. Bran continues to be weakest item on list with very light demand in Chicago and Kansas City markets. Kansas City dealers quote bran at $12.50. brown shorts, $13, gray shorts $15. oil meals slightly easier. Hominy feed and gluten feed steady. "Wolves of the North"—Mystic

That there is a strain of the wolf in all men is implied in "Wolves of the North" Eva Novak's screen story of the Alaskan wilds which is to be shown at the Mystic Theatre today.

Norman Dawn, the Universal director, wrote the story and produced it in the far north. The result is considered to be one of the most daringly dramatic interpretations of human emotion ever screened.

As the story opens the blonde beauty is seen as a school teacher in a desolate arctic outpost. Two men want her enough to marry her. One is a sensitive boy; the other a bearded brute with a bad reputation and a good heart. Just which of them gets the girl is never clear until the story rushes toward its climax.

Supporting Eva Novak in her starring role will be seen Herbert Heyes, Starke Patterson, Percy Challenger, Barbara Tennant, William Eagle-Eye, Clyde Tracy and Millie Inpolito.

"Wolves of the North" is said to stand out as one of the most artistically presented screen stories of the decade. Norman Dawn is a scenic photographer of note and has embellished his theme with magnificent scenery.

Bebe Daniels at Princess

Those who saw Bebe Daniels the popular Realart star, in the original Elmer Harris play, "Ducks and Drakes," will welcome her return to the Princess today in another play by the same author, entitled "The March Hare."

It is the story of a wealthy young hoyden, whose properly chaperoned trip from her home in Los Angeles to New York is somewhat complicated by her falling in love with an unknown hero in the railway station, her refusal to go to the home of her prospective hostess, and her laying a wager that she can live for a whole week in the great city on the meager sum of seventy-five cents.

The Harris ingenuity in constructing brick comedy situations has never been more active than in building this swift-moving play, and how well Miss Daniels interprets the role designed for her can easily be imagined by those who saw her in "Ducks and Drakes." The vivacious little star needs no coaching when it comes to playing dashing good-little-bad-girl roles.

To add to the gaiety of the occasion a fine supporting cast was chosen.

CAPT. FERRIS SHOT HIMSELF

Finding of Camp Grant Military Board Announced

Rockford, Ills., Aug. 6—Captain Robert Ferris, in charge of the prison at Camp Grant, shot himself according to a finding of the military inquiry board made public today.

The army officer was shot from ambush, he claimed, while riding in an auto.

The report of the inquiry set forth no reason why Ferris should shoot himself, but declared it was the belief of the board that he had no intention of committing suicide.

A grand jury investigation into the entire affair was ordered by county authorities unless satisfactory explanation was made of the shooting.

"WOLVES OF THE NORTH"

Two things make this picture stand out head and shoulders above any other picture ever made of the frozen north.

The first is the astounding theme of its plot, which shows how the Arctic, hard and cold, grinds, at a man's soul until the Wolf in him is brought to the surface.

The second is the unmatched beauty of the scenery, the crisp tank of ice-clad slopes that radiates from the screen, and above all, the horrible but majestic spectacle of an actual avalanche, crashing with unstemmed violence.

It is a picture of a man and Nature at their best and worst.

Coining New Words

President Warren G. Harding has exceeded the speed limit in coining new words and phrases. The latest addition to his vocabulary is "common sensical", which will take its place alongside "normalcy" and "catelysmical" by the same author.

When the president showed the tendency to invent words which are not commonly used, he was in fact breaking away from the doctrine which he preached during the campaign, a return to normal. However, he made the first venture into the realm of unused phrases for the purpose of expressing himself better. And he succeeded well because "normalcy" is expressive and has a definite meaning, and is being accepted as a common term, especially in writing. Newspapers and magazines still use the word in quotations, but some time is required for the conservatives to get acquainted with any innovation.

"Common sensical" does not roll off the tongue as well as "normalcy" but it seems to be as expressive as its mate. The word was used by the president in referring to Secretary of War Weeks, at whose summer home he is a guest on a week's vacation. That the president wanted to pay a tribute to his host by coining a new phrase in referring to him, is doubtful. It is more than likely that the president had nothing like this in mind, but that the phrase best expressed his opinion of the man.

When the president first used the noun "normalcy", he was ridiculed by newspapers opposing him in the campaign. The criticism was largely inspired by partisanship.

The same was true of President Wilson when he began writing it "okeh" instead of O. K. He was criticized for going out of the beaten path in the use of words, but since then many have seen the value of using "okeh" in this form rather than in the cumbersome form in which it has been commonly used.

"A wireless wagon" from McCook field was guided through the streets of Dayton, O., Friday without a driver, by a car fifty feet in the rear, which should be a hint to "bootleggers" who find it difficult to evade the law with a "cargo" aboard.

We learn from the secretary of the treasury that cleaner money is to be put into circulation. That is pleasing. When we get it it will be still more pleasing. But until we do, just keep right on sending in the dirty old stuff and we'll be eternally pleased.

Current Comment

More American History

(Kansas City Journal)

The statement of Henry J. Ryan, chairman of the Americanization commission of the American Legion, to the effect that the Legion desires to see American history and government taught more extensively in the schools of the country, should receive the attention of the educators who plan the curricula of American educational institutions, from grade schools to colleges and universities.

Unless he has specialized in political science, the average graduate of an American college leaves school woefully ignorant of the nation's traditions, and, which is more to his own discredit, of the essential features of American political institutions.

Take, for example, a student enrolled in a college of liberal arts and sciences. The required subjects are very few. In his freshman year, perhaps, he must take English composition and rhetoric. In order to get his degree, he must take prescribed amounts of work in different lines, which, however, are largely elective.

Few colleges require courses in American government. The result is inevitable—the graduate leaves school with only a hazy idea of how the government works in Washington. He knows that a president is elected every four years, and that a congress meet every so often to debate and pass laws. It is doubtful if he can explain the separation of powers theory upon which American government is based. He knows the government is a democracy—he had heard it in Independence day addresses—but he cannot differentiate the American form of republic from the governments of England and France, which are also democratic.

The chances are he cannot tell which of the governmental institutions are established by the constitution, and which have other origins.

This condition could be remedied by required courses in government, accompanied by courses in American history. If American schools are to turn out citizens who are to be of civic value to their country, their graduates must be educated in the historical and political foundations of their government.

The fundamental purpose of an education is not to train the individual to hold white-collar positions where he makes more money and leads an easier life. Its more important function is to teach him to be of value to the country he has been taught to love. Equipping him with expert ability to perform some professional task cannot accomplish this by itself. The graduate must have a sense of patriotic duty awakened in him by a knowledge of his government and its history.

Declare American Occupation of Haiti is a Blot to Navy

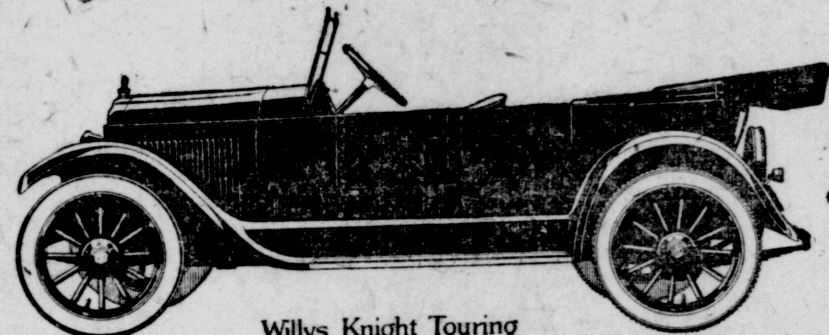

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 6.—Investigation of the American occupation of Haiti and San Domingo was started today.

Oswald Garrison Villard, publisher and Horace Knowles, former minister to San Domingo appeared before a special Senate committee with sensational charges concerning the American occupation which began in 1915. Naval officers were called in defense of their administration.

Villard and Knowles declare the occupation of Haiti is a blot on the navy. According to Villard there was no trouble there until the United States went in, but afterwards, "inexcusable murders" were committed by American troops.

MARION RAMBLERS PLAY HERE SUNDAY

Indiana Travelers Cancel Game With Tail Lights and Another Team is Scheduled

DEFEATED HERE ONCE BEFORE

The Indiana Travelers, who were scheduled to appear here Sunday against the Tail Lights, cancelled the game last night on account of several reasons, and the Marion Ramblers were scheduled to fill their place in the game here tomorrow.

The Ramblers played here a few weeks ago and were shut out 5 to 0, in a good game of ball. The attraction should draw a large crowd, because the team has strengthened for Rushville. In the former game the locals made their five runs on seven hits, and Henn, who pitched for them, was effective, getting 9 strikeouts.

Merkhaul, who will be on the mound for Rushville, comes here with a good record, and the team tomorrow will prove to be a good test, as they are a bunch of heavy hitters. The Ramblers will line-up as follows: Collins, ss.; Organ, 2b.; Rosemyer, cf.; L. Dunn, 3b.; Rivers, lf.; Kuper, 1b.; G. Dunn, c.; Deardorf, rf.; Henn, p.

RUTH IS BEHIND HIS 1920 HOME RUN RECORD

On August 5 Last Year Big Bam Had Collected 39 Circuit Clouts During The Season

ONLY 38 SO FAR THIS YEAR

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, Aug. 6—Babe, the big bam, is now at the foot of a steep grade on the way to a new home run record.

For the first time this year, Ruth is actually behind his 1920 run of clouts.

On August 5, last year the Bam had connected with the ball in his noted bawling manner for 39 homers. His count today is 38.

Dauss the tiger hurler is the champion furnisher of homers for the Bam, as he has served up ten that have been devoured by him.

Many of the players charge that the ball has been changed again. They maintain that it is losing some of the hop and life that resulted in an orgy of homers earlier in the season and placed the hands and faces of the infielders in jeopardy.

The players still complain though that the lively and less lively balls are being mixed now. They say one ball will come at them in regular fashion and the next one will knock them off their pins.

CLYDE S. BLACK IS SINGLES CHAMPION

Defeats Harold Miller This Afternoon 6-2, and 6-0, in Finals of City Tennis Tourney

FINAL DOUBLES AT 3 P. M.

The Rev. Clyde S. Black won the singles championship in the city tennis tournament on the city park courts this afternoon when he defeated Harold Miller, runner-up, 6-2 and 6-2. Black eliminated another contender for singles honors this morning when he defeated Dr. D. D. Drago by the same scores as he registered in the afternoon games.

The doubles championship was to be fought out this afternoon at three o'clock between Black and Ralph Hackleman, playing Drago and William Sexton, each team having worked its way to the finals.

In the doubles matches Sparks and Frazee won from Cox and Mellett by default Friday and then lost to Sexton and Drago after winning the first set 6 to 4. They lost the next two with the same score reversed. Sexton and Drago then closed the playing Friday evening by defeating Smith and Wilson 6-3 and 6-2 thus working their way into the finals.

The surprise of the singles play was the victory of Harold Miller over Wilbur Cox, Indiana university player, Miller winning in straight sets, each with a 6-2 score, which gave him the right to play in the finals. The Rev. C. S. Black eliminated Walter E. Smith in a hard battle Friday, losing the first set, which went to deuce, 5 to 7, but winning the next two handily, 6-2 and 6-0. Ralph Hackleman went out of the singles when he was defeated by Dr. D. D. Drago, each set going 6-2.

Detroit, Aug. 6.—Indianapolis will play Boston here this afternoon for the championship of the International Typographical Union base ball league.

Chicago was eliminated yesterday when defeated 4 to 1 by Boston.

WOMAN IS HELD IN MURDER CASE

Mrs. Madline Oberchain Witness at Killing of John Kennedy, Wealthy Insurance Man

TRAGEDY AT LOS ANGELES

Says Kennedy Was Shot by Unknown Person While She Stood Near, at His Summer Home

(By United Press)
Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 6.—Mrs. Madline Oberchain was held by the police as the material witness here today pending investigation of the mysterious murder last night of John Kennedy, wealthy Los Angeles insurance man.

No charge was placed against her. Mrs. Oberchain who is a divorcee, was the only witness to the murder which occurred at Kennedy's cottage at Beverly Glenn, a fashionable suburb.

"We motored to the beach yesterday, returning late, and I accompanied Mr. Kennedy to his cottage which he maintained for week-end parties," said Mrs. Oberchain.

"Mr. Kennedy and I had left the machine and started up the hillside stairs. Then I remembered on my last visit to the cottage a year ago I had placed a copper coin under the stone near the foot of the stairs. I went to see if it was there and struck a match. Just as the match flared I heard the most terrible crash near the house. I was dazed and when I looked up I saw Mr. Kennedy collapse. 'Good night Madline' he said. That was all.

"I then saw a dark figure disappear into the shadows. I thought I would die with terror with a dying man at my feet and dark figures among the shadows."

Mrs. Oberchain's screams reached neighbors some distance away. The police were called. The police found a loaded revolver beside Kennedy. It appeared to be his own weapon.

SALARIES CAN NOT BE DECREASED, SAYS LESH

Holds That Increases Granted Under Law of 1919 Can Not be Taken Away From Co. Superintendents

INCREASE MAY BE GRANTED

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 6.—Salaries of the county school superintendents in Indiana can be increased but not reduced Attorney General U. S. Lesh ruled today.

In an opinion submitted to L. N. Hines, state superintendent of public instruction, Lesh held that the increases granted them under the law of 1919, fixing a minimum salary of $1500 can not be taken away from them.

Salary boosts granted by 49 counties ranged from $600 to $1,000 a year. The question was raised, Hines said, through letters from DeKalb and Warren county. Although these were the only two counties asking the opinion, it would have affected nearly every county in the state, especially those where the increases have been granted.

HOOVER TO INSIST ON NEGOTIATIONS FIRST

Wants to Negotiate With Soviet Russia Before Extending American Food Relief to Country

FORESHADOWS FIRST HITCH

(By A. L. BRADFORD
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Aug. 6.—Herbert Hoover, head of the American relief administration will insist on negotiations with the Russian soviet government itself before extending American food and other relief to the famine stricken country, it was learned today.

Hoover takes this position because he believes the soviet government is the only agency which can guarantee safety and freedom for American relief workers in Russia.

This foreshadows the first real hitch in the extension of relief to Russia as officials here fear that representatives of relief committees in Russia will come out to Riga to negotiate with Walter Lyman Brown, European director of the American relief administration.

Dispatches today from Riga also stated that Russia intended to negotiate with Brown through a relief committee.

Officials here fear that if an agreement is reached only with a relief committee of Russia, the Bolshevik government remaining in the background, will recognize and carry out such an agreement only as it sees fit.

CHICAGO OPERATIC CO. IS ONE OF BEST

City working among foreigners.

The sale of guarantors tickets was reported to be doing well today, with the prospects of a good attendance all week. Although the number of season tickets sold does not quite equal the sale of former years, it is believed that the single admission receipts will more than make up for this deficiency.

A brief review of the personnel of the Chicago Operatic company reveals the character of the organization:

John B. Miller for years has been one of the leading American tenors, and is a favorite from coast to coast. He has appeared as soloist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, the Appollo Club, the Mendelssohn Club, and most of the great musical clubs of the country. He has that rare gift—the truly great ability to deliver the real message of a song. It is the work of Mr. Miller that has made this great company possible. Mr. Miller is one of the directors of the Chicago Musical College.

Mae Grave Atkins possesses a well trained, flexible dramatic soprano voice of wide range, free, full and beautiful, and has found for herself an enviable place in the realm of song. She is a protegee of the famous Mme. Marcella Sembrich. Mrs. Atkins has an appearance this season with the Appollo Club.

Lyell Barber is a highly gifted young artist whose splendid equipment has won for him a place of distinction among the younger pianists before the public. He combines brilliant technique with intelligent and sympathetic interpretations and his accomplishments are all that could be desired.

Frederica Gerhardt Downing has had the most enthusiastic endorsement wherever she has appeared and has attained a place among the first musical artists of the country, having appeared last season as a member of the Chicago Opera Association. Her singing is always a delight. Mrs. Downing has been engaged for one of the Appollo Club concerts this season.

G. Magnus Schutz has been the basso of this organization for the past five years and his glorious voice has thrilled thousands. He is indeed a worthy successor to the famous basso Arthur Middleton, now of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York. Mr. Middleton was with Mr. Miller's company a number of years. Mr. Schutz, while assuming and of modest stage demeanor, has that undefinable something which captivates his audience at once.

Amy Emerson Neill is one of the great violinists of the age, despite her youth, and her every new appearance establishes the undeniable fact. Her European appearances were made in 1914, when she was little more than a child, but her playing gave promise of many things that her later achievements have but fulfilled. Miss Neill's playing creates a sensation wherever she appears.
